

Adolph "Randy" Calovi
CU Maurice River Annual Message 2008

This year we have earmarked two members who made contributions to the health of our organization and who are now departed.

Most of my interactions with Randy Calovi came from our families' business gatherings. Randy was a banker, loved numbers, and was smitten with horse racing and business. But more than anything else Randy was a devoted family man. Everything revolved around the happiness of his family. He constantly answered CU's plea for support from the banks he so adroitly managed. We are indebted to his generosity and wish his family well.
